SchoolMessenger, part of West Corporation, is the trusted provider of K-12 communications solutions. Thousands of school districts, charter schools, private schools, and other educational institutions in all 50 U.S. states depend on SchoolMessenger products and services. From notifications and websites to custom mobile apps and social media, school leaders use our platform to engage with their communities in multiple languages and on any device.

Since its start in 1999, the SchoolMessenger platform has grown from its notification core and its presence has expanded across the U.S. and Canada. But what's remained constant is the dedication to simplicity, speed, and scale, backed by responsive 24/7 support every day of the year and robust, secure technology.

With innovative technologies and solutions, we're shaping the future of education, and bringing millions of people around the world closer to the knowledge they seek and the potential they can achieve. We build education technologies and engaging interfaces focused on the learner, and offer services, analytics, and communication tools to support learning for all. At Blackboard, we nurture learners, and support those who are deeply involved in making education possible, from K-12 and higher education to adult learning and work-place training. While our leaders are committed to seeing Blackboard succeed, they are even more passionate about making a meaningful and lasting difference in education and learning across the world.

Foxbright provides website design and hosting for K-12 schools, districts, and the educational organizations that support them. Our primary mission is to help school websites communicate better. To accomplish this, we combine a process-driven approach with our proprietary, education-focused content management solution and a highly skilled staff. The result is a dramatic improvement in the form and function of school websites. With Foxbright your website can look better, communicate more successfully, and be put to its best use, quickly and cost effectively. Foxbright has been in business for over 12 years and has been providing web design and hosting services for the last 10 years to school organizations.
